GUIDANCE

- a. Process property transfers promptly. Failure to do so could leave the participant without regulatory assurances for ongoing activities and could result in civil or criminal liabilities for the purchaser.
- b. WAFWA recommends that the transfer be included in the terms of the purchase to ensure all parties are aware of the agreement. The purchaser can opt out of continuing with the agreement, but in that case the responsibility for any outstanding enrollment fees or mitigation fees remains with the seller. If the purchaser does not sign the Certificate of Inclusion, the responsibility for any outstanding enrollment fees or mitigation fees remains with the seller.
- c. If elected, the seller may transfer mitigation funds from their Habitat Conservation Account to the purchaser's account. This allows the seller the option to recoup funds paid to WAFWA as terms of the sale and ensures that they have sufficient mitigation credit to develop without any additional delays.
- d. Upon the signature of a Certificate of Inclusion (CI) by the purchaser, all future enrollment fees and unpaid mitigation fees on the transferred parcels become the responsibility of the purchaser. Any reconciliation of estimated impacts or credit for remediation from projects within the transferred parcels will be credited to the purchaser's account.
